Expanding our Team of Health Care Law Professionals

GRGB has long been a trusted and respected partner for medical professionals facing regulatory and enforcement actions. We are thrilled to offer our clients expanding expertise with the addition of Arthur K. Thexton, former Prosecuting Attorney for the Medical Examining Board, with 24 years in this position. In addition to our current expertise in helping physicians protect career, licensure and professional opportunities threatened by government or health system scrutiny as well as a variety of other legal issues, our expanding team brings a unique insight from the governmental side of the equation. This experience is an important asset to any health care practitioner seeking to defend and preserve their livelihood and professional standing.

Trust the team with the talent and respect to navigate the complex waters of healthcare/legal issues.
